LEONIDAS FRAGIAS

ATTENTION!

Please note that from October 2012 I publish the Airplay country music chart, instead of the new Hot Country Singles chart, because I dislike the current methodology. The new Hot Country Songs is more crossover-oriented than its predecessor and the songs spend... 500 weeks at number one (Sam Hunt, Florida Georgia Line etc.) which is annoying. I prefer the Airplay chart. Also because Billboard magazine is not published weekly anymore, I use the scanned charts from Billboard Country Update PDF (which is available every Monday).

Cumulus Brings Country To New York, Strengthens It Beyond City Limits

When WKXP New York hit the play button on Randy Houser's "How Country Feels" Jan. 12, it marked the arrival of country music to a new market in the nation's largest city, but after an absence of more than a decade.

It was a big deal in terms of its local impact, but just as important to have it heard on country nationally. The station, which will adopt WKXP (Dial 94.7) as its primary call letters, will become the flagship for a Nash brand that Cumulus will roll out in numerous forms of its own media, including radio stations in other markets, plus a magazine, Web presence and planned live events and cable TV.

But it's also likely to have a positive effect on country's impact in other media. The genre immediately becomes more visible in a marketplace where hundreds of national companies make decisions daily about how they will spend their money and what vehicles they might affiliate with.

The complete Nash branding package is not even close to being in place, but it's a sign of things to come. Cumulus is CEO John Dickson says, "We've been the owner of that, and I think what you've got right now is the notion of what's going to be a big opportunity for country and this life group that is going to be significant."

Questions about the medium of WKXP remain. No PD or

Cumulus Brings Country To New York, Strengthens It Beyond City Limits

When WKAT New York City's first country station, Jan. 22, it brought the national country music network to the nation's largest market, but after an absence of more than a decade, it was a big deal in terms of its local impact. But for the station, it was a big deal in terms of its national impact. The station, which will air WKAT (which has 94.7% in its primary market), will become the flagship for a new brand that Cumulus will roll out in numerous formats in its own media, including radio stations to offer markets, plus a magazine, a Web presence and planned live events and other TV.

But it's also likely to have a positive effect on country's impact in other media. The genre immediately became more visible in a marketplace where hundreds of national companies make decisions daily about how they will spend their money and what outlets they might affiliate with. The company had already been a significant force in the market, but it was not until Jan. 22 that it was able to offer a national presence. Cumulus CEO John Dickson says, "It was the most efficient, all of these different people were all coming and it really worked, and I think what you're getting now is the result of what's going to be a significant success story and I think that's going to be significant."

Questions about the impact of WKAT remain. No PD or music director has been named yet, and the station initially will not have the personality, having instead an on-air producer (likely to be an "American Idol" personality). The on-air staff and programming executives will be announced "sometime later," Dickson says.

The WKAT playlist was, he said, based on market data. The first hour would consist of songs by "Southern Country Stars," "New York's 10 Best New Tracks" and "New York's 10 Best New Tracks." "I don't know if you've heard of it, but it's called 'The New York 10' and it's a list of the top 10 new tracks in the country market," Dickson says.

Also heard, somewhat surprisingly, was "Don't Let the Good Times Go," which peaked at No. 47 on Hot Country Songs in 2010 but had been on the list and then dropped. If that was indeed chosen because of its popularity, it was a surprise. Dickson says the station would be a "country, and not really a pop/country station."

"There's a lot of competition out there, and I would expect there to be a lot of competition, but I would expect there to be a lot of competition," Dickson says.

When WKAT New York City first began its country music programming, it was a bold move. The station, which was then known as WKAT 94.7, was the only station in the city to focus on country music. Today, it's a major force in the industry, with a large following of listeners and a strong presence in the market.

WKAT's success is a testament to the power of country music in New York City. The station's programming, which includes a mix of classic and contemporary country, has resonated with a large audience. This success has led to the station's expansion into other markets, where it continues to build a strong presence.

The station's success is also a reflection of the growing popularity of country music in New York City. As the city's population grows, so does the demand for country music. WKAT is well-positioned to meet this demand, and its success is a testament to the power of country music in the city.

Cumulus Brings Country To New York, Strengthens It Beyond City Limits

When WKAT New York City (the play button on Randy Houser's "How Country Feels") on Jan. 22, it brought the national country music network to the nation's largest market after an absence of more than a decade. It was a big deal in terms of local impact, but just as important to have it broadcast country nationally. The station, which will adopt WKAT (radio FM 94.7) as its primary local station, will become the flagship for a Nash brand that Cumulus will roll out in numerous forms of its own media, including radio stations in other markets, plus a magazine, a Web presence and planned live events and cable TV.

But it's also likely to be a position of first on country's impact in the media. The genre immediately became more visible in a marketplace where hundreds of national companies make decisions daily about how they will spend their money and what vehicles they might affiliate with.

The company that brought WKAT to the air "has been using that will appear and happens organically because Cumulus is CMO John Dickson says. "But we're the most efficient, all of these different people power will come and fit really together, and I think what you're going to see is the number of what's going to be a rapidly growing country and this is going to be a significant."

Questions about the making of WKAT remain. No PD or station director has been named yet, and the station initially aired without live personalities. Being listed as a pre-produced show, Cumulus as "America's country station." The on-air staff and programming executives will be announced "sometime later," Dickson says.

The WKAT playlist was, he said, based on mainstream country. The first hour aired current singles: Brad Paisley's "Southern Comfort Zone," Lee Brice's "I Drive Your Truck" with guest musician (Zac Brown Band's "Time," Lady Antebellum's "I Run to You") and classic country from the 1970s (Garth Brooks' "Friends in Low Places," George Strait's "We're the Same").

Also heard, somewhat surprisingly, during the first day was Randy Rogers Band's "See You Late for Country," which peaked at No. 47 on Hot Country Songs in 2010 but had barely on the radio and then. If that was indeed chosen because of network and not just picked from a playlist at one of Cumulus' Dallas stations (Dickson said WKAT was not an adaption of another city's lineup), that suggests the station could be a contender, and not simply a patchwork of personalities.

"There's pretty conservative as far as it is, and I would expect there to be more conservative, but I'm not sure if that's the case for them, they're just on something called 'Unleashed'."

Cumulus Brings Country To New York, Strengthens It Beyond City Limits

When WKBS New York hit the air last week, it was the first time since 1978 that a country station had moved to the city's largest market. But after an absence of more than a decade, it was a big deal in terms of the local industry. The station, which will air WKBS (Dial 94.7) on its primary signal, will become the flagship for a new brand that Cumulus will roll out in numerous forms of its own media, including radio stations in other markets, plus a magazine, a Web presence and planned live events and cable TV.

But it's also likely to have a positive effect on country's impact in the media. The genre immediately became more visible in a marketplace where hundreds of national companies make decisions daily about how they will spend their money and what vehicles they might affiliate with.

The company that brought WKBS to the air is not alone. Using that will appear and happen organically because Cumulus is CEO John Dickson says. "But we're the most of that, all of these different people want to come and do this together, and I think what you're going to see is the number of what's going to be in the country music industry and this like group that is going to be significant."

Questions about the making of WKBS remain. No PD or music director has been named yet, and the station initially will not have live personalities. Being listed as a pre-produced format, being an "America's country station." The on-air staff and programming executives will be announced "sometime later," Dickson promises.

The WKBS playlist was, he said, based on market-driven research. The first two most common singles, Brad Paisley's "Southern Comfort Zone," Lane Brink's "Drive Your Truck" and most recently Eric Burdon's "Don't Stop Believin'." Florida Georgia Line's "Cruise in Low Places," George Strait's "White Horse,"

Also heard, somewhat surprisingly, during the first day was Randy Rogers Band's "See You in the Goodbye," which peaked at No. 47 on Hot Country Songs in 2010 but had barely on the air and did not chart. If that was indeed chosen because of research and not purely because of a radio or TV station, it's a sign of a change in the industry.

"There's pretty conservative as far as what we would expect them to be representative, but if something seemed to make sense for them, then you just go with it," Dickson said.

Cumulus Brings Country To New York, Strengthens It Beyond City Limits

When WKAT New York City first began its country music programming, it was a small station. But now, it's a major force in the market. Cumulus Media's WKAT 94.7 is the only station in the city to have a dedicated country format. The station's success is a testament to the power of country music in the Northeast. Cumulus Media's CEO, John Dickson, says, "We're proud to be the only station in the city to have a dedicated country format. We're proud to be the only station in the city to have a dedicated country format. We're proud to be the only station in the city to have a dedicated country format."

Cumulus Brings Country To New York, Strengthens It Beyond City Limits

When WKAT New York City first began to play country music, it was a bold move. The station, which was then known as "The 102.7," was a commercial radio station. But in 2008, Cumulus Media decided to make a change. They wanted to bring country music to New York City, a city where it had never been as popular as in other parts of the country. Cumulus Media, which owns WKAT, decided to make a change. They wanted to bring country music to New York City, a city where it had never been as popular as in other parts of the country. Cumulus Brings Country To New York, Strengthens It Beyond City Limits

When WKST New York City's play button on Randy Houser's "New Country Radio" Jan. 22, it brought the national country music network to a new level in the nation's largest market, but also an extension of more than a decade. It was a big deal in terms of national impact, but just as important to local fans of country music. The station, which will adopt WKST (radio FM 94.7) as its primary outlet, will become the flagship for a new brand that Cumulus will roll out in numerous forms of its own media, including radio stations in other markets, plus a magazine, a Web presence and planned live events and cable TV.

But it's also likely to be a position of first in country's impact in the media. The group immediately became more visible in a marketplace where hundreds of national companies make decisions daily about how they will spend their money and what outlets they might affiliate with.

The company had been growing for years, but using that will appear and happen organically, says Cumulus CEO John Dickson. "But now the music of the 40s and 50s is going to be a real force in the marketplace, and I think what you're going to see is the music of the 40s and 50s is going to be a real force in the marketplace, and I think what you're going to see is the music of the 40s and 50s is going to be a real force in the marketplace."

Questions about the making of WKST remain. No PD or music director has been named yet, and the station initially will not have live personality. Being listed as a pre-produced format, being listed as "America's country station." The on-air staff and programming executives will be announced "soon, but later," Dickson says.

The WKST playlist was, he said, based on market research. The first two most common singles, "Randy Houser's 'New Country Radio' and 'Love Me Like You Do' by Lady Antebellum." The station's "New Country Radio" playlist was based on the station's "New Country Radio" playlist.

Also heard, somewhat surprisingly, was "Love Me Like You Do" by Lady Antebellum, which peaked at No. 47 on Hot Country Songs in 2010 but had been on the chart and did not. "If that was indeed chosen because of research and not just because it was a popular song at the time, it's a good sign," Dickson says.

COLLECTION

Arts & Charts

The complete Country Music Charts exactly as they appeared in Billboard magazine from 1944 to the present, in high resolution, taken from the celebrated magazine's pages.

From the owner of COUNTRY MUSIC DATABASE® who has one of the largest collections in the world (with records, videos, magazines, books and comics) comes his latest epic project!

More than 70 years of Country Music Charts from the beginning. The volumes are published in random order (like Marvel's beautiful series "The Epic Collection").
